

Black-crowned Night Heron

The Black-crowned Night Heron is a highly adaptable species found in wetland habitats all around the world. A medium-sized heron with a distinctive appearance, the adult bird has a black crown and back, contrasted with a white or light gray body. The eyes are strikingly red, the stout bill black.

See colors
and learn more

