

Cape Griffon Vulture

The Cape Griffon is a large species of Old World vulture that lives in southern Africa. The main body plumage ranges from creamy white to beige, with much darker tail and primary flight feathers. The heads are covered in fine light downy feathers. The base of the neck has a fluffy white collar; eyes are yellowish-brown.

